Engaging Fathers: Strengthening Families

Minnesota's Birth-to-three Conference For Healthy Development

Join the many professionals supporting infants, toddlers, fathers and their families who return year after year to these unique multidisciplinary conferences for best-practice strategies and peer networking opportunities.

Kyle D. Pruett M.D., Clinical Professor of Child Psychiatry at the Yale School of Medicine. Dr. Pruett is an internationally known expert and forensic consultant on child, parental and family development, paternal involvement, children's mental health, creativity, and the effects of media, trauma, and divorce on children. He maintains a practice in infant, child and family psychiatry. Dr. Pruett is a national leader in research about father engagement and is the author of the groundbreaking works, Fatherneed and The Nurturing Father.

Dr. James McHale Dr. McHale's research program examines the role of coparenting and family group dynamics in families of infant, toddler, and preschool-aged children. He also maintains active interests in infant mental health, community psychology, family diversity, and primary prevention.

Vicki Turetsky Vicki Turetsky, past Director of Family Policy at the Center for Law and Social Policy (CLASP), was appointed Commissioner of the Office of Child Support Enforcement in the Administration for Children and Families at the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Ms. Turetsky brings 25 years of experience as a public administrator and advocate for low-income families. She is a nationally recognized expert in child support policy and has been instrumental in efforts to establish realistic child support programs that encourage fathers to work and play an active parenting role.
